Encounters: Art & Context

By West Den Haag | free entry

At a time when thinking in terms of traditional disciplines – such as art, music, dance and architecture – seems to function less and less, the definition of art seems to reside more in method than in appearance. Within the series 'public meetings' during 'Encounters' two international experts (per event) will be given space to highlight this cultural phenomenon and engage the audience in a discussion.

Het Liedeken (7:30pm-8:30pm)
Het Liedeken will be interpreted by Cora Schmeiser, a singer specialized in medieval and contemporary music.
Het Liedeken draws its origin from a ceremonial song, sung by the printers from the famous Plantin-Moretus Press, founded in the 16th century by Christophe Plantin in Antwerp, Belgium. The printing workshop played a profound role in Europeans book printing trade until 17th century. When entering the printing guild the new journeymen celebrated together with their Godfathers and adjured their commitment by singing this very song. One of their requests in the lyrics is a good treatment and a fair payment to assure a proper quality of their work. Today only the lyrics of this song remain whereas the melody is lost.
